From the Director's Desk

The alumni meeting in Starkville was about to be adjourned when a young alumnus shyly raised his hand and asked, "May I say something? If it weren't for Delta State I wouldn't be where I am today. The teachers gave me extra attention, the business manager made special arrangements for me to stretch out my tuition payments, and they even helped me find a good job. And I just want to say 'thank you.'"

Those words of Earnest Brothers seem to convey the mission of the Delta State University Alumni Association. Dr. Don Skelton asked me to be the guest writer for his "From the Director's Desk" column and reflect on alumni activities.

In 1997 hundreds of volunteers gave untold hours to their alma mater making so many alumni activities special. The 12th annual "Pig Pickin'" barbecue held before the first home football game drew a crowd of almost 2000 people to Shumate Park. The chief volunteer, Clyde Weeks of Cleveland, was unable to attend due to a serious car accident just before the event. The giant barbecue was dedicated to Clyde and his friends rallied to carry out the most successful pig pickin ever. Sadly, Clyde later died of complications.

Also in 1997, we lost several beloved members of the Delta State Family including such notables as Maxine Holcomb, art teacher; Dr. Jesse White, science professor and department chair; Dr. John Tatum, German professor; Dr. Thomas Daniel Young, former dean; and Mrs. Marjorie Tims, patron.

The Student Alumni Associations (SAA) celebrated its 15th birthday and is stronger and more active than ever. Their most visible endeavor of the year was giving birth to the Fighting Okra Mascot costume. Brian Formby of Vicksburg volunteered to be the "okra man" in the homecoming parade and ride on the float with the cheerleaders, pulled by the okramobile.

Chances are if you graduated before 1985 you don't know much about the fighting okra. Everywhere we go, alumni ask how the vegetable came to be associated with Delta State. As we understand it, a group of baseball players were standing around after practice and began to discuss the characteristics of a mascot and mused over the fact that a Statesman is not exactly ferocious like a lion, tiger, bulldog, cougar or such. Asking what else could be southern, green, and fierce, the okra was mentioned and laughter followed. The next day the student newspaper printed an article on the mythological birth of the fighting okra, and the rest is history. To see how popular the hairy vegetable is, just visit the bookstore and note the okra t-shirts, bumper stickers, and okra caps.

The 50-Year Golden Circle, chartered in 1994, is thriving under the leadership of Sue Thweatt King. The next meeting is April 14. It is always held in conjunction with academic honors day in the spring.

If you haven't returned to campus in a while, mark your calendar and make a commitment to come October 3, 1998 for homecoming. The class of '87, under the leadership of the class president, George Bassi, has initiated a tailgate party at Shumate Park, near the stadium, immediately following the homecoming game.

The alumni association belongs to you. The new alumni board, under the leadership of president, Mickey Robinson of Cleveland, is about to launch its plan of work for the coming year. Volunteers are always needed. Call, write, e-mail or visit the alumni office if we can be of service.

NEW ARCHIVES & MUSEUM DEDICATED

Charles W. Capps, Jr.

One of higher education's staunchest supporters was recognized by Delta State University on November 23, 1997 when the Charles W. Capps Jr. Archives and Museum was dedicated in Capps' honor.

The $2.8 million edifice will house a museum for touring exhibits as well as the University's permanent exhibit. A seminar and reception room, the museum curator and staff's offices, the archivist and assistant's offices, a public reading and research room, the archives collection, the Social Work Department and three classrooms are also located in the three-story structure.

A native of Cleveland, Capps is in his seventh consecutive term with the Mississippi House of Representatives where he serves as chairman of the Appropriation's Committee, which handles the bills to fund state agencies and institutions. Known and respected by his House colleagues as an able and dedicated legislator, Capps also serves on the Constitution, Ethics, Insurance and Military Affairs committees and is a member of the Joint Legislative Budget Committee.

Short Notes

ZACHARY NAMED ARCHIVIST

Tara Zachary is the University Archivist, a new position at Delta State. Zachary, a native of Sulphur, La., joins Delta State after working in the special collections department of the Louisiana State University Libraries. She earned the bachelor of arts degree in history and broadcast journalism from LSU in Baton Rouge. She holds the masters of library and information science degree from LSU. At Delta State, Zachary is responsible for improving access to the archives, manuscript collection and oral histories, providing reference assistance to researchers, and acquiring new collections in the areas of Delta history and the history of the University. She is also responsible for mounting exhibitions in the new Charles W. Capps Jr. Archives and Museum.

SBDC HAS NEW DIRECTOR

David Holman, '91, a native of Carrollton, is the new director of the Small Business Development Center at Delta State. The facility is housed in the newly renovated "Gold Star" building on the corner of Bishop and College streets.

Holman, came to Delta State from the Bank of Hollandale where he was Assistant Vice President.

The SBDC is designed to provide assistance to current and potential small business owners. The center hosts many workshops and training events across the Delta to keep business owners current on today's complex business environment. For more information call (601) 846-4236 or email to dholman@dsu.deltast.edu

50-YEAR GOLDEN CIRCLE SET

Did you graduate between 1928-1947? The fourth annual meeting of the 50-Year Golden Circle has been set for Tuesday, April 14. Sue Thweatt King, president, expressed, "The 1998 Golden Circle get-together promises to be the biggest and best yet. Some of the activities are: recognition at Honors Day Program, a tour of the campus, an elegant dinner, reminiscing and reflecting time, and a lunch hosted by DSU President and Mrs. Kent Wyatt. Mark your calendar and make plans to return to your alma mater on April 14."

INFORMATION AND TECHNOLOGY SERVICES RECEIVES GRANT

Novell, the world's leading provider of network software, has awarded one of its Teach For Tomorrow Grants to the Information and Technology Services (ITS) Department at Delta State University. They are one of only 100 sites in North America to receive this grant and the only one in Mississippi. Under this grant, Novell will donate all training and materials necessary to become an Internal Campus Training (ICT) site, valued at approximately $5000. ITS will offer Certified Novell Administrator (CNA) certification, using exclusive Novell-authorized curriculum, to all educators in this region. Novell supports the process needed to make schools successful in technical training and designed the Teach For Tomorrow

Grant program with the academic venue in mind. By training educators first, Novell helps schools build the infrastructure to support consistent training for years to come. ITS will train regional teachers and faculty to establish and maintain technology centers in schools to prepare students to thrive and get jobs in today's world of sophisticated technology.

PIG-PICKIN' & HOMECOMING DATES SET FOR 1998

Mickey Robinson, president of the DSU Alumni Association, has announced that the thirteenth annual "Pig-Pickin'" will be held on the afternoon of Sept. 19th, prior to the Statesmen's first home football game with Valdosta State. Robinson also announced that Homecoming '98 will be celebrated on October 3rd, with the Statesmen playing West Alabama. Classes of 1928, '38, '48, '58, '68, '78, and '88 will have reunions.

DSU FLIGHT TEAM ADVANCED TO NATIONALS

Delta State University's Flight Team has taken its first step toward a national championship by winning the National Intercollegiate Flying Association's Region IV competition.

DSU's Precision Flight Team will represent the State of Mississippi at the national championship competition to be hosted by Kansas State University May 5-9, 1998. The DSU team has competed in the national event every year since 1984.

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF DELTA STATE UNIVERSITY:

Mississippi's universities are essential to Mississippi's future. From these campuses will come tomorrow's citizens--the people who will govern our state and towns; doctor our sick; guide, nurture, and teach our children; invest in our businesses; discover medical cures; inspire our spiritual beings and challenge our humanitarian endeavors. During the 1997 session, the Legislature made a three-year commitment to moving faculty and staff salaries closer to those of their regional counterparts. Such advances must continue. Recognizing its charge of fiscal responsibility, The Board of Trustees for Higher Learning has proposed a budget increase for Fiscal Year 1999 that makes significant strides in providing students the education they need in order to be productive Mississippians. Mississippi has eight strong public universities, and providing them with adequate resources will allow them to continue on their course of excellence. Your support is needed. Inform your legislator today that you believe Mississippi universities are essential to Mississippi's future. Thank you for your cooperation.

Mickey Robinson, President
DSU Alumni Association

Alumni Notes

ARE YOU A "FIRST" ?

Chris Abernathy, '93, a third year law student from Greenwood, is the first DSU graduate to be selected Editor-in-chief of the Mississippi Law Journal at the University of Mississippi Law School. The scholarly publication, run completely by students, has served the Mississippi Bar since 1928.

Dr. Dorothy Rice, '29, is retired and lives in Little Rock, AR. She was a member of the first freshman class at Delta State Teachers College in 1925, was the first Student Government President, graduated in '29, and returned to teach at Delta State in 1965, retiring in 1972.

Mrs. Marjorie Crook Bell, formerly of Vicksburg, and now a resident in Crook Retirement Facility in Ruleville, received the first degree in English in 1947.

Mrs. Ruth Walters Bobo of Gunnison, class of 1940, was the first Alumni Association President to serve two terms, 1961-63.

If you were a "First", please send information to Delta Currents, Box 3104, Cleveland, MS 38733.

ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP AVAILABLE

Applications for the Hugh Ellis Walker scholarships, given annually to children of dues-paying members are available at the alumni office. You are encouraged to contact Felicia Applegate for more information at 1-800-468-6378 Ext. 6.

DSU FRIENDS REMEMBERED

Dr. Thomas Daniel Young, 77, a retired chairman of the English Department at Vanderbilt University and a leading authority on literature of the American South, died on January 29, 1997 at the Bay Springs, MS, General Nursing Home. Prior to his service at Vanderbilt, Dr. Young served as Dean of Delta State from 1957 to 1961 under the presidency of Dr. Jimmy Ewing. A former member of the Cleveland Exchange Club and Methodist Church, Young was the author of many books and articles on Southern writers.

Maggie Flowers Ewing, 96, a lifelong resident educator and widow of former Delta State University and Copiah-Lincoln Junior College president, James M. Ewing, died of heart failure on Nov. 26, 1997.

A Lincoln County native, she began a 49-year teaching career in 1922, teaching math and music until her retirement in 1971. An accomplished musician and voice teacher, Mrs. Ewing enjoyed sharing her musical gift with others.

"Mrs. Ewing was an energetic and very gracious first lady of Delta State for 15 years," said Delta State President Kent Wyatt. "I remember her as having a deep love for people, and she showed that in all of her activities."

In 1973 the Copiah-Lincoln Board of Trustees recognized her many years of service by naming the fine arts building in her honor.

Marjorie Hollingsworth Tims, 79, a longtime friend and benefactor of Delta State, died of cancer on Oct. 31, 1997.

A graduate of Miss. State College for Women in 1939, Mrs. Tims was a resident of Cleveland for more than 50 years. Active in civic and political affairs, she was a pioneer in the modern Mississippi Republican Party, serving as president of both the Bolivar County and Mississippi Republican Women's Federation.

"She was a wonderful friend to everybody," said minister Wade Holland of St. Luke United Methodist Church. "She was an active church leader; she loved the children and the youth. If there was ever a need, she was there to help."

Dr. John Hargrove Tatum, 51, a language professor at Delta State, died of cancer on Nov. 22, 1997. Educated at Millsaps College, he received bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Mississippi. Tatum earned his doctorate from the University of North Carolina and did graduate study at Goethe University in Frankfurt, Germany.

Dr. Tatum wrote many articles and published a German reference book on German literature. He had taught German and served as coordinator of international students at Delta State for 20 years.

ALUMNI ON THE MOVE

MADELYN S. HARLOW

Madelyn S. Harlow has been named Secondary Teacher of the Year among Mississippi's Private School Association for 1996-1997. She teaches junior and senior English at Carroll Academy in Carrollton.

"Mrs. Harlow is an administrator's dream come true," said Melody Carter, headmaster at Carroll Academy. "You are able to turn anything over to her and know that the task will be done completely and in a first-class manner."

Her teaching career began at Greenville High, her alma mater, in 1968. She later moved to Grenada and taught at Grenada High School until six years ago when she entered the private school association.

She holds a masters in English and a bachelor of science in education, both from Delta State University.

Madelyn and her husband, Gene, live in Grenada.

DAVID DALLAS

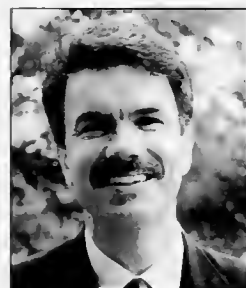

David Dallas has been named Drexel's Director of International Programs. Mr. Dallas will work to expand and highlight Drexel's international activities.

According to Timothy Perkins, Vice-president at Drexel, "David will help the University compete in the field of international education exchange by developing and implementing innovative international programs."

In 1992, Mr. Dallas took leave from the United States Information Agency to serve a Legislative Fellowship in the Office of United States Senator Trent Lott. He holds a bachelor of arts in English and Political Science from Delta State and a master's in Public Policy and Administration from Mississippi State University.

David is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Dallas of Cleveland.

TERRY FAUST

Former Marks, Mississippi, resident Terry Faust has been named the 1997 Outstanding Administrator at Kennesaw State University, where he has been director of student financial aid since 1992.

Faust won praise from KSU President Betty L. Siegel for rallying his staff to "address change in some very creative way" when the governor of Georgia launched HOPE scholarships for students attending state colleges and universities.

Faust holds a doctor of education degree from the University of Mississippi and a master of education degree and bachelor's degree from Delta State University. He was associate director of student financial services at the University of Alabama before his appointment at Kennesaw State.

He and his wife, the former Debra Fair, live in Acworth, Georgia.

ANDY HUGHES

Andy Hughes, the manager of Information Technology for Mississippi Chemical Corporation, recently spearheaded the replacement of the company's business application system.

Hughes oversees the selection and implementation of Mississippi Chemical's computer systems at Yazoo City. He recently completed the networking of Mississippi Chemical's worldwide locations.

Originally from Cleveland, Mississippi, Hughes has served Mississippi Chemical since 1982. A graduate of Delta State University with a Bachelor's of Business Administration degree emphasizing Management Information Systems, he also holds a Masters of Business Administration degree from Millsaps College.

He became a certified data processor in 1985.

He and his wife, Karen, reside in Madison with their two children.

DSU ALUMNUS, BRYCE GRIFFIS, HONORS DR. WYATT WITH $100,000 PLEDGE

Bryce Griffis of Starkville, a 1954 Delta State University graduate and former president of the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, has pledged $100,000 to the DSU Foundation in honor of University president Kent Wyatt.

"I am deeply honored to the point of being overwhelmed," Dr. Wyatt said when he learned of Griffis' pledge. "Bryce and I have been long-time friends and we were Delta State classmates and teammates, too."

Bryce Griffis and Dr. Wyatt

The President and owner of Sturgis Lumber Company, Griffis' gift establishes the Bryce Griffis Endowment Fund with the Delta State University Foundation, Inc. to provide monies to fulfill departmental and/or student needs at the discretion of the University president and his cabinet, according to Dr. Don A. Skelton, Director of the DSU Foundation, Inc. Griffis also funded an endowment in 1989 for the School of Business Enhancement Fund.

Griffis earned his bachelor of science degree in business administration and he was a three-year letterman in football and baseball at Delta State. Named the University's Outstanding Alumnus of the Year in 1986, Griffis is past president of the DSU Athletic Alumni Association and a former member of the DSU Foundation Board of Directors.

ANONYMOUS GIFT MAKES DREAM OF SWIMMING COME TRUE!

The combination of a generous and caring donor, a determined young man, and a compassionate volunteer has allowed dreams and goals to come true and to build a lasting friendship.

When an anonymous donor made a gift of a hydraulic chain lift to the University swimming pool, it was the donor's desire to provide access to the pool for those who otherwise would not be able to climb down a ladder. In making the gift the donor said, "I want to make sure that the handicapped and elderly are able to enjoy the benefits of the pool. Swimming is something I enjoyed for many years and wish I could still." The hydraulic lift allows a person to be lowered into the pool by simply pushing a lever which powers the chair by water pressure from a water hose.

Gaining access to the pool itself became the easy part for nineteen-year-old John McGee of Grenada. John, a sophomore accounting major, was born with cerebral palsy and uses a wheelchair for getting to and from classes. Although he had never swam alone before, and has the use of only one arm, John decided to sign up for the beginning swim class taught by DSU instructor, Ronnie Mayers. "Swimming is one thing I have always wanted to do. I told myself 'no problem'. I'm going to do it!", John said. He contacted Mayers and asked if it were possible for him to take the class. Coach Mayers, who doubles as men and women's swimming and diving coach and as an instructor in the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department, said, "Come on!"

Leigh Ann Powers, a sophomore Nursing major from Natchez, was enrolled in Mayer's Concepts of Physical Education class. They began talking about their hometown of Natchez and Mayers discovered Leigh Ann was a Certified Water Safety Instructor. Mayers asked Leigh Ann if she would volunteer to help with John. She excitedly accepted the opportunity. Although she did not know John, Leigh Ann said she had seen him around campus in his motorized wheelchair. "He was very determined from the first day," recalled Leigh Ann. "John has a 'let's get out there and do it' outlook on life. I have been impressed with his desire and determination since the first day I met him," she continued. Leigh Ann gives her free time every Monday and Wednesday to meet John at the Delta State Natatorium for his hour long swimming class.

"He was skittish about being on his stomach in the water and had trouble with breathing control which was the first thing we began working on," said Leigh Ann. Now, after a semester of swimming every Monday and Wednesday, John is able to swim 10 freestyle laps across the pool with only minimal assistance from Leigh Ann and he swims the backstroke unaided all over the pool. Leigh Ann said, "I can't tell you how grateful I am to the donor for the gift of the hydraulic lift. It allows John to independently enter the pool and now, after months of swimming, I am there only for minimal support to him."

Terri Jackson from Cleveland is a first-time swimmer enrolled in John's class. Jackson said, "Seeing John learning to swim was very inspiring to me. He has to overcome a lot more things than I do, so I decided if he can learn to swim then so can I."

This is an example of how the lives of young adults are being touched by the generosity of our donors. This is a story which reflects the type of students we have at Delta State — students who are determined, caring and dedicated to serving each other and the community. John McGee's story reflects the attitude of the Delta State faculty which has a tradition of more than 70 years of inviting and challenging students to succeed. The Delta State Foundation is proud to help this tradition continue through its efforts to raise private support for students like John and Leigh Ann.

Sports Update

SOFTBALL TEAM HONORED

The National Fastpitch Coaches Association (NFCA) announced that Delta State University's softball team has been honored as one of the top 10 academic teams in NCAA Division II, based upon GPA's submitted for the 1996-97 school year.

BASKETBALL TEAMS RECOGNIZED

DSU's men's & women's basketball programs dominated both Gulf South Conference pre-season coaches polls and are favored to repeat as GSC champions. Four key members of the squads were honored with selection to the pre-season All-GSC team. Chris Sykes, a junior from Aberdeen, and Twentis Magee, a senior from Franklinton, La. received recognition for the Statesmen, while Trina Davis, senior from Arcola, and Tanya Redmond, a senior from Oxford, represented the Lady Statesmen.

SWIM TEAM FACILITY PLANNED

Excitement abounds around the DSU swim team as Coach Ronnie Mayers crew anticipates the completion of a new swimming complex by late 1999. The project is presently in the design phase with construction scheduled to begin September of 1998. "We are excited about the prospects of this new complex," said Mayers. "It will be a deeper and faster pool than we have at present and will help our swimming program tremendously."

INDOOR BASEBALL FACILITY PLANNED

Members of the 1977 baseball team have announced that plans are underway to formulate a three-year $250,000 fundraising effort to build an indoor practice facility for the DSU baseball program. Initial plans call for the building to be approximately 100' X 100' and house batting cages, pitching mounds and a sizable open area to conduct drills. Judson Thigpen, project chairman, states "the addition of such a facility will serve as a wonderful and necessary compliment to one of the most respected baseball programs in the nation."

THOMAS DOMINATES GSA, AGAIN

Treg Thomas, 1996 Conerly Trophy recipient, gained 1,145 yards during the 1997 season to lead the Gulf South Conference for the second consecutive year. Thomas, along with LB Bobby Parnell and DE Eric Weber were named 1st Team All-GSC.

STATESMEN FOOTBALL WRAP UP 1997 CAMPAIGN, LOOK TO NEXT YEAR

Finishing with three consecutive wins helped to ease the "sting" of a disappointing season as the statesmen finished the 1997 season with a 3-7 mark.

Looking back on the season, Coach Todd Knight stated "the year didn't go as we had hoped but I am proud of our coaches and players for the way they handled adversity and continued to improve. There is no question that we became a better football team as the season progressed."

FEMALE ATHLETES AND OVERALL PROGRAM TOPS IN STATE

Delta State University President Kent Wyatt celebrated with student athletes from DSU upon receiving the David M. Halbrook Awards for Academic Achievement Among Athletes at the annual Mississippi Association of Colleges meeting in Hattiesburg.

The awards, presented to both the top men's and women's programs in Mississippi, recognized institutions which had the highest student-athlete graduation rates between 1992-93 and 1996-97.

The Lady Statesmen program earned top honors and its second women's Halbrook Award by graduating 88 percent (51 of 58) of its student-athletes.

MARSHALL PLAN COMMEMORATIVE STAMP UNVEILED AT DELTA STATE

The significant, but frequently overlooked role of the State of Mississippi in the creation and announcement of the Marshall Plan was the focus of an October 27, 1997 ceremony held on the Delta State University campus.

With numerous dignitaries in attendance, the highlight of the ceremony was the unveiling of a U.S. Postal Service second-day issue stamp commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Marshall Plan by Marsha Hopkins, Manager, Post Office Operations.

Gregory A. Fossedal, Director of the Alexis de Tocqueville Institute in Arlington, Va. and principal speaker, noted that on May 8, 1947, one month prior to General George C. Marshall's announcement of the foreign assistance program (later to be called the European Recovery Act or the Marshall Plan) Dean Acheson, Undersecretary of State for President Truman, revealed what historians describe as the "prologue" to the Marshall Plan in a speech to the annual meeting of the Delta Council in Whitfield Gymnasium on the Delta State campus. The speech was originally to be delivered by Truman himself. However, because of various personal and political reasons, President Truman was forced to cancel. Instead, he sent Undersecretary Acheson to deliver the speech.

In describing the speech given by Acheson, B.F. Smith, longtime Executive Director for Delta Council, recalled how Whitfield Gymnasium was filled to capacity with people wanting to hear Acheson's speech. "A sound system had to be set up outside so that the overflow crowd could hear", said Smith.

Acknowledged as a major force in the formulation of the Marshall Plan was Will Clayton, a native of Tupelo, Miss. and Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs under President Truman. Clayton's visits to Europe following World War Two convinced him that the European nations could not withstand encroachment by the Soviet Union unless their war-torn economies were strengthened through aid from the U.S. To honor Clayton's role, his grandson, The Honorable William L. Garwood of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals was a special guest at the ceremony.
